Prospects of the Bank of Montreal Succeeding the Firm of the Barings.

Mrs. Harrison Sinking Rapidly—Her Death Expected Within a Few Hours.

Rev. Dr. Savage Urges the Opening of the World's Fair on the Sabbath Day.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—Great interest has been created in city financial circles by the presence here of so many directors and high officials of the Bank of Montreal. It is generally known that the agreement between the Dominion Government and the Barings and Glinn Mills for the management of the London finances expires this fall, and that the Bank of Montreal think it should be given to them. The vast sums handled makes the account very valuable. It is estimated that the commission, discounts, premiums, exchange, etc., are worth to the Government agents fully $100,000 per annum. The following is the Dominion debt, etc., handled in London: Debt, $918,670,000; annual interest charges, $7,250,000; sinking fund purchases, $1,900,000; redemption debt, $2,500,000. In addition there is a large profit in bringing out new loans. The business of the different provinces and municipalities would likely follow the Dominion Government in its change of agents.

Mrs. Harrison dying.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—At 11 o'clock Mrs. Harrison was barely alive. She has passed the stage where nourishment could be administered, having received the last little liquid stimulant at about midnight. Since then the nurse and physician have been able to do nothing more than to moisten her lips with stimulants. Shortly before three o'clock Dr. Gardner reached the house and remained at the bedside of the patient until 9:30. As he left he stated that it seemed impossible that Mrs. Harrison could survive the day, and this statement was communicated to the members of the cabinet, who are now on their way the Washington.

American Wheelsmen's Meeting.

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—A special meeting of the racing board of the League of American Wheelmen is in progress to-day at the Great Northern hotel, with Howard E. Raymond, of New York, in the chair, for the purpose of taking action in view of the announcement that some of the leading wheelmen intend to race for cash prizes next year under the auspices of some of the baseball magnates. The particular object of to-day's meeting is to thoroughly discuss the present system of prizes, and to devise some method of doing away with the abuses to which the amateur rule has been subjected this season. The racing board has not the power to change the definition of an amateur, but its recommendations to the national assembly will carry considerable weight. The meeting to-day is being held with closed doors, but it is given out that President Raymond will submit a scheme that will fully meet the requirements of the case. It is thought that he leans strongly toward the formation of a pro-amateur class as the only practicable and possible way of settling the expense question. It is given out in advance that the racing board will take no action whatever on the cash prize question, or discuss the possible formation by others of a professional association. The indications are that unless the league can adopt some scheme by which the men will be able to receive some fair return for the time expended in training the professional league will be brought into existence.

New York State's Building.

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—The hegira of the World's Fair visitors was begun to-day. A good many of the visitors, however, have concluded to stay over until next week, and as the decorations are also to remain it will be several days before the city resumes its normal aspect. To-day is being devoted to the dedication of some of the state buildings at Jackson Park. The structure which is to be the rendezvous of the New York visitors next year was dedicated with considerable ceremony and in the presence of an immense audience, including the state board of managers, many members of the legislature, and heads of state departments. The exercises were commenced with music by a chorus. Prayer was offered by Rev. John W. Brewn, D.D., rector of St. Thomas church, New York, after which Hon. Chauncey Depew, amid great enthusiasm, was selected as presiding officer, and delivered a lengthy address, outlining the general design of the board of managers in preparing the building. Director General Davis spoke briefly, and an original ode, composed by Mrs. Frederick P. Bellamy, was sung by the chorus. Gov. Flower, who was received with considerable enthusiasm, made a brief address, and then gave way to Archbishop Corrigan, who delivered the Columbian oration.

Two Juneau Society Men Load two Melons With Croton Oil With Deadly Intent.

Adventures of the Steamer Elsie's Crew in the Northern Waters of Alaska.

PORT TOWNSEND, Oct. 24.—The steamer Mexico arrived last night, four days ahead of schedule time. The Mexico's officers report the arrest of F. F. Myers, editor of the Juneau Mining Record, and Chas. Kuhn, a Juneau druggist, charged with attempt to poison the guests at a party given at Judge Hoyt's. Myers and Kuhn sent two watermelons saturated with croton oil to Judge Hoyt's. The party had lunched when the melons arrived, so Mrs. Hoyt put them aside, and next day sent one to Mrs. Blacket, who gave a piece to a child and also ate a piece herself. Both were very sick, but recovered. Mrs. Hoyt cut the other melon, but was suspicious from the color and odor. Myers and Kuhn were angry because they were not invited to the party. The Mexico brought both prisoners from Juneau to Sitka. Neither was allowed bail.

Capt. Thomas, the officers and crew of the steamer Elsie arrived at Sitka on Thursday Oct. 13, on the steamer Salmo. The gunboat Pinta was ready to start in search of the Elsie, which was over-due two weeks. After the Elsie left Kodiak on September 22, an anchorage was made for the night off Marmot Island and the trip continued next day, arriving at Nucheck on the 23rd. Next day the vessel resumed her trip, touching at Kayek on her way to Yakutat. The weather was stormy and a heavy sea was running. At 4.30 on the 25th of September the forward crank of the low pressure engine broke, completely crippling the machinery. Capt. Thomas decided to sail back to Nucheck, which was reached on the 26th. They left the steamer at this point and proceeded in an open boat to Ayak cannery, 65 miles up Prince William Sound, where they hoped to charter a steamer, but were unable to do so. The Pacific Steam Whaling Co. offered the use of the tug Salmo. Capt. Thomas and crew returned in the Salmo to Nucheck and left there October 6th, being delayed by rough weather. They did not arrive in Sitka till October 13th.

Collector of Customs Hatch has been ordered to expend $1000 in repairing the custom house at Sitka.

The schooner Albatross, loaded with provisions, was wrecked in Lituya Bay. The crew arrived in Sitka on the Salmo, with the crew of the Elsie.

Judge J. N. Scott of this city, brother of Mrs. Harrison, has been summoned to Washington on account of Mrs. Harrison's critical condition.

W. C. T. U. National Convention.

DENVER, Oct. 24.—Delegates to the national convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, which opens here on Friday, are beginning to arrive, and the indications are that the gathering will be the largest since the organization was brought into existence. Elaborate arrangements have been made by the ladies of Denver for the reception and entertainment of the delegates and visitors. All the leading hotels have been drawn upon for accommodations, and private houses have been thrown open for the entertainment of the most distinguished guests. Miss Francis Willard, accompanied by Lady Somerset, who has crossed the ocean especially for this convention, are expected here to-morrow.

One Hundred and Three Years Old.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Oct. 24.—"Aunty" Baldy, Indiana's oldest woman, reaches her one hundred and third year of existence to-day. Last year and the year before celebrations were held in her honor, but this year she is too feeble to stand the strain. Mrs. Baldy was born in Saratoga, N.Y., in 1789, and settled in Terre Haute in 1819, three years after the city was founded. Her husband went down the Wabash in a flat boat bound for New Orleans in 1822, and never returned. It was believed at the time that he was killed by the marauding Indians. His wife never married again.

The German Army to be Increased.

BERLIN, Oct. 24.—The Reichstag reassembled to-day. Prince Bismarck, contrary to expectation, was not present at the opening session, although he will be in his seat next week. There is great danger of a Ministerial crisis. The new army bill will ask for a vast increase in the army, probably one hundred thousand men, and an immediate outlay of ten million dollars. Bismarck will resist the propositions of the Government.

Terribly Destructive Fire in the Village of Ste. Anne de Beaupre, Quebec.

Toronto Suffering From the Worst Epidemic of Diptheria Known in Years.

OTTAWA, Ont. 24.—A deputation of Canadian publishers has arrived here at the request of Sir John Thompson, Minister of Justice, to discuss copyright matters with a view to enabling the Dominion Government to reply to a dispatch received from the British Government, calling for certain information required before the Imperial Government can declare on the constitutionality of the Canadian Copyright Bill. Information received from England on the subject, it is said, strengthens the belief that the Canadian bill, although long deferred, will be allowed by the British Government, which means the practical exclusion from Canada of American reprints of English copyrighted works. Canada has been advised by Great Britain that she can withdraw from the Berne Copyright Treaty. The Dominion Government will take advantage of the suggestion.

St. Anne de Beaupre in Flames.

QUEBEC, Oct. 24.—Dispatches from St. Anne de Beaupre state that fire broke out in a house there about midnight on Sunday. Up to 9 o'clock this morning thirty-five houses had been destroyed and the fire was still raging, though partially under control.

The locality in which the fire spread was on the road from the steamer landing to the famous church of St. Anne's, a shrine which is visited by thousands of pilgrims every season from all parts of the continent and where wonderful miracles are alleged to have been wrought. The latest advices state that the church is still untouched and may be saved. The population of the village are in a great state of excitement at the possibility of the fire destroying what they regard as a sacred edifice, and are making every effort to prevent its destruction.

An Epidemic of Diphtheria.

TORONTO, Oct. 24.—The most serious report concerning diphtheria since the outbreak of last winter is by the medical health department concerning the past week. No less than 55 cases of diphtheria were reported, a proportion almost as high as was reached at any time during last October and November, when the most serious outbreak in the city's history took place. There were 15 cases of typhoid and 16 of scarlet fever reported during the week. Fourteen new cases of diphtheria were admitted to the isolation hospital yesterday.

The New Brunswick Elections.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Oct. 24.—The latest returns this morning show 25 Government and 16 Opposition elected, not including Gloucester, where the polling takes place to-day. The Government gain three and lose eight seats. In York county, with three places to hear from, Attorney-General Blair is 200 behind the lowest Opposition candidate.

A Watchman who Watched.

FREMONT, N.B., Oct. 24.—At 2 o'clock this morning the night watchman detected a man trying to blow open the safe of the First National Bank. The watchman shot the robber through the head, killing him instantly. The dead man is unknown in this part.

Riches Will Bring Ruin.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 24.—An attorney of this city is engaged in a case that may result in the blasting of a young woman's life. A young girl, living in central Ohio, the daughter of a popular minister, Rev. Mr. Fell, came to this city, where she began a life of shame. Her baby girl she placed in the Children's Home, from which it was adopted by a monied family of this city. The mother prospered, and now, at the end of a wasted life, with a fortune of $250,000, she has decided to abandon her wicked ways. She also wishes to find her child and give her the fortune. The authorities at the Children's Home refused all information and urged the woman to devote her money to charity and not wreck the life of the happy girl, but the mother has employed an attorney and given him carte blanche in the matter of expenses. He is searching every record in the country. Her foster parents have been notified and will be on the watch to shield the adopted daughter, who is the affianced of one of the most prominent men in the state.

Canada Must Defend Herself.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—Considerable surprise was caused in political circles yesterday by a report that Mr. Gladstone proposed to withdraw the British troops entirely from the North American colonies and require the Canadians and Newfoundlanders to maintain their own means of defense. It is known the question has been seriously discussed among the members of the Cabinet, and that Mr. Gladstone is decidedly favorable to throwing the colonists, in all parts of the world, as much as possible on their own resources. He has no idea of abandoning the territories which are immediately under Imperial jurisdiction, but believes in training the self-governing colonies to be able to rely upon their own resources—both military and naval. It is not improbable that before another twelve months will have elapsed the Canadians will be relied on to occupy the forts now garrisoned by Imperial troops, and that the Cape Government will also be required to undertake a similar responsibility. It is said that Mr. Gladstone has expressed the opinion that if the colonists should learn something by experience as to the cost of military strength and display, they will be less inclined to involve themselves and the empire in costly and unprofitable wars.

CHAPLEAU INTERVIEWED.

His Failing Health Will Compel Him to Take a Rest.

Ottawa, Oct. 24.—The TIMES correspondent interviewed Chapleau, who has returned to the city, to-day, about his speech at Hochelaga, in which he mentioned his early retirement from the ministry. He says that owing to the poor state of his health he will have to take a rest. He did not say in his speech when Mr. Ouimet was to succeed him in the leadership of the Montreal district. What he did say was that Ouimet would some day succeed him, and probably soon. He fears that he will have to go to Paris, France, to see his physician, but nothing has been definitely arranged as to his leaving the cabinet. This is what Chapleau himself told me, but there is very little doubt about his leaving the cabinet soon, and that was why he laid down the programme which should guide the French ministers in regard to the Manitoba school question, namely, to get the rights of the minority maintained or to consider to question of confederation anew.

The South Westminster Coal Company Will Try Again.—The Vancouver Bonus.

NEW WESTMINSTER, Oct. 24.—The South Westminster Coal Company will commence again prospecting coal at their claim on the south side of the river. A new drill has been secured and boring operations will be pursued 200 feet further.

W. Davison and D. McCowan won the building society's appropriations, $1,000 each, on Saturday night.

This morning before Justice McCreight argument is being heard to quash the Vancouver bonus by-law. A big array of the legal fraternity is present. Davis, for Henry Bell-Irving, who made application to put in fresh affidavits, which he contended would show that voting on the by-law would have gone against it if a large number of names had not been purposely left off. This point occupied all the morning. His Lordship adjourned the court at 2 o'clock to allow Davis to quote authorities showing that injustice would be done if the affidavits were not admitted as evidence.

The Beegans were brought down this afternoon from Kamloops. Chief Houston arrived on the Rithet with Birdie Kazar this morning.

An attempt was made to rob Bell-Irving, Paterson & Co.'s warehouse and office early Sunday morning. The locks and a plate glass window were broken when the robbers must have been disturbed, as nothing was missing.

VERY LIKE A WHALE.

A Pilot and an Alderman Catch a Leviathan—Evil Sternly Denounced

NANAIMO, Oct. 24.—Yesterday while Pilot John Sabiston was on his way up from Victoria with a vessel, he caught sight of a large whale off Cowichan Flats. On his arrival here he hired a little steamer from Campbell & Foreman, and, in company with Alderman R. Nightingale, proceeded to where the monster of the deep lay. It took them some time to get fast to it and tow it to the city, but they are well rewarded for their exertions, as it proves to be an enormous sperm whale, and hundreds of the citizens are visiting the monster during the day. The whale had evidently been killed by a bomb, probably thrown from a whaler, and had afterwards drifted down here. Both men are elated over their day's work.

Rev. D. A. McRae, Presbyterian minister, preached a ringing sermon last night about the increasing number of prostitutes arriving in this city. He also attacked the saloon keepers, and asserted that they were violating the Sunday observance act.

Rev. W. W. Baer was taken suddenly ill yesterday morning and was therefore unable to occupy the pulpit. A substitute was found in his place.

Bound to Have That Sermon.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 24.—Chas. Mason Emmons, a member of Olivet Congregational church of this city, became suddenly insane this morning, and obtaining an entrance to the church, took full possession of the pulpit and held it against the whole police force until 4 o'clock this afternoon. Emmons had asked the pastor to deliver a sermon on truth, which he (Emmons) had prepared, and as the minister declined to do so, he determined to preach it himself. He had drawn an imaginary line around the pulpit and with the aid of two revolvers kept the officers at bay, until this afternoon, when he fell asleep and was captured after a struggle. He fired several shots, but his aim was wild and none of them took effect. The pulpit was stocked with provisions enough to last a week.

CARRIED OUT HIS THREATS.

Perry, the Train Robber, Breaks Jail Accordi ng to Promise.

AUBURN, N.Y., Oct. 22.—Oliver Curtiss Perry, the train robber, has carried into effect the treat that he made when he entered Auburn prison that he would not remain to finish his sentence, and has added another to the long list of desperate deeds which have brought him unenviable fame. His latest escapade was to escape from his guards, late this afternoon. Since his fight with the keepers, some months ago, when he drew a knife and dared them to approach him. Perry has been confined in a screen cell and kept under the closest surveillance.

So strict was the watch that an officer was stationed in front of his cell when the other convicts were marched to and from the shops so that he might have no communication with anyone. Not even the prison guards were allowed to converse with the desperate little train robber. His cell was located in the basement of the north wing; the cells on either side were occupied by men who work in the shops, and through one of these Perry made his escape by digging through the brick partition, a distance of twelve inches.

At 4:15 this afternoon, keeper Willard, an ex-assemblyman from St. Lawrence County, who has been only a short time on the prison force, gave Perry his supper. Nothing unusual was noticed at this time by the guard, except that the prisoner seemed in great good humor and more submissive than at any time since his entrance into the institution. This was the last seen of the wily man. At 5 o'clock, when the other convicts were marched from the shops, a man named Edmunds, who occupied the cell next to Perry's, reported that there was a hole through the dividing wall. A hasty examination by the officers confirmed the report. A towel had been pinned over the opening in Edmunds' cell to conceal it. A glance into Perry's cell revealed what appeared to be his form stretched on the cot, but closer inspection proved it to be only a dummy. When Perry escaped from the building where he went is as yet a mystery. The warden maintains that he is hidden inside the walls, but many of the keepers openly express their belief that he is safe outside and beyond their reach. The walls about the institution are patrolled by double guards, as well as is the yard inside, while a posse of officials is searching every available hiding place.

What instrument was used by Perry in opening the wall cannot be surmised by the prison keepers, and they have not the slightest idea where he procured it. The cells on the upper tier are examined twice each week to see if any attempt has been made to dig through them, but the cells in the basement are considered so secure that they are not inspected. Perry has had ample time to complete his work. For several weeks Perry has been unusually cheerful and submissive, his comrades congratulating themselves that his wild spirit had been broken by the long and close imprisonment he had been subjected to, and that in a short time he might return to work in one of the shops. Perry is in excellent health; the disease from which he was suffering when he entered the prison had been alleviated, and he is well prepared to withstand a siege as a stowaway. The city is greatly excited over the affair, and the prison gate is constantly surrounded by large crowds, who gaze open-mouthed upon the familiar walls and speculate as to whether the daring convict is inside or not. Rumors are thick in regard to the escape, and wherever it is discussed there is a crowd.

It is said that the escaped convict was assisted by friends inside, and that he got over the wall on the north side of the prison, leaving a rope behind him upon which was pinned a note of defiance to the warden of the prison. The rumor cannot be confirmed, though it is in keeping with the desperate character of the man. Warden Durston is greatly worried over the affair and is making every possible effort to capture the fugitive. If he has not succeeded in getting outside the walls, his discovery is only a question of days, as it will be next to impossible for him to elude the double force of guards.

American Secularists.

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—The annual congress of the National Secular Union opens here to-morrow, and will be participated in by a number of delegates. This society was organized in Philadelphia on July the Fourth of the Centennial year, for the purpose of opposing the encroachments of the National Reform Association upon religious liberty, and is in reality a free thinking or atheistic organization. The convention will be held at Berry's Hall on Washington Boulevard under the presidency of Hon. Charles B. Waite, and will continue for three days. One session will be devoted to speeches denunciatory of Congress for decreeing the closing of the World's Fair on the Sabbath day. The advisability of holding an international congress of disbelievers in the Christian faith in this city during the World's Fair will also be considered, and in all probability favorably acted upon.

Foolish Public Men.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—The Star states that the police have found among the effects of the girls who were murdered by Thomas Neill Cream letters from many well-known persons, including members of Parliament and several holding prominent positions. These girls, it appears, plied their trade in the vicinity of the Parliament Houses, and in this way picked up the acquaintance of public men, some of whom were foolish enough to write compromising letters to their charmers. The police spared these men from exposure, but required them in all cases to give statements as to what they knew about the frail victims of the prisoner.

Butchered by the Cook.

CAPETOWN, Oct. 22.—The mate of the American bark William Hales, the master of which, Captain Buckley, and his wife were murdered at sea by the Chinese cook while the vessel was on a voyage from New York to Capetown, has made a further statement of the affair. He says that the captain frequently remonstrated with the cook for his incompetency, but that nothing serious occurred between the two men until August 19, when the cook acted in a bungling manner while drawing some water. The captain was much irritated by the man's behavior, and spoke roughly to him and pushed him away from the pump with some force. After this incident the cook appeared to be meditating a deep revenge on the captain for the treatment he had received, and his movements finally became so suspicious that the mate grew alarmed and warned the captain that he feared the cook intended doing him some harm. The captain, in spite of the mate's words of warning, treated the matter lightly, and took no notice of the Chinaman. On the morning of August 21 the mate was startled by hearing the captain's wife screaming for help. He rushed to the cabin occupied by the captain and his wife to render them assistance. As he descended the hatchway the cook rushed upon deck. When the mate entered the cabin he found the mutilated bodies of the captain and his wife lying in a pool of blood, the cook having slashed and hacked their bodies into halves. The mate summoned the crew to assist him in capturing the murderer, who hid himself after leaving the cabin. A search was instituted for him, the men proceeding cautiously, as they feared that the fiend would not hesitate to again use the dangerous weapon with which he was armed. At length the cook was discovered crouched in a corner, and the crew prepared to seize and overpower him. Before they could carry their plans into execution, however, the Chinaman suddenly jumped from his hiding place and, with a wild cry, rushed to the vessel's railing and flung himself headlong into the sea. Efforts were made to save him, but he made no attempt to catch hold of the articles thrown in the water and soon disappeared. The American consul here is conducting an inquiry into the whole matter.

Uganda to be Retained.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—Lord Rosebery has intimated as much, and the public sentiment without regard to party is in favor of retaining the African possession. There is a general impression that as Lord Rosebery says: "Uganda may prove the key to Central Africa, and strengthen British influence, both in the Nile region and on the lakes." Since Lord Rosebery took charge of the Foreign Office there has been no abatement of a vigorous African policy. The essential departure from Lord Salisbury's method is that what Lord Salisbury did through chartered companies, Lord Rosebery proposes to do through and on behalf of the Imperial Government. Uganda will not be abandoned. So much is certain. But it is also certain that the reign of the British Africa Company in Uganda will come to an end. Uganda will be occupied by British troops for Great Britain. Since the return of Captain Lugard from Uganda many false reports in regard to the people of that country have been disproved. The statement of the imaginative traveler that many of the natives were cannibals, and when a man took a second wife the first was cooked for the wedding feast, turns out to be entirely false. The natives of Uganda proper are not cannibals, although some of the tribes on their border are, and while plural marriage is common the wives seem to live in harmony together. Even cannibal tribes show considerable respect for the missionaries, regardless of their physical development.

Smart Spanish Soldiers.

GIBRALTAR, Oct. 22.—The southern part of Spain from Gibraltar westward along the Straits and up the coast is infested with smugglers, who make the "running of contraband" the sole business of their lives. Many fights have occurred between them and the guards, who attempt to prevent them landing goods and getting them into the interior. A band said to have been composed of 200 armed smugglers made a descent upon one of the carabineer stations situated between Tarifa and Cape Trafalgar. Eight carabineers who were detailed at this station had no warnings of the approach of the smugglers and the first they knew of their presence was when they were called upon to surrender. The carabineers surrendered without making any resistance. The smugglers then took the guns away from their prisoners, sacked the station and set fire to it. With their eight prisoners the smugglers made for the mountains, and have not since been heard from. The comical part of the occurrence is that it was the duty of the carabineers to keep a sharp lookout along the coast for smugglers, and had they performed their duty they could easily have procured assistance to aid them to defeat the smugglers.

A River and Ocean Line.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 24.—Arrangements have finally been made for the establishment next spring of a line of steamers between St. Louis and Mexican and South American points. A company has been organized under the laws of Illinois with $5,000,000 capital, and the first ship is now being constructed. It is on a patent secured several years ago by a St. Louis inventor, and has a remarkably small draught to enable it to steam up and down the Mississippi during comparatively low water. The vessel is being built of steel, and if it proves a success will largely revolutionize freight traffic between the United States and the Spanish American republics.

Alfred Wheeler, of Belleville, convicted of criminally assaulting a girl under 14 years of age, has been sentenced to 14 years in the penitentiary.

The prisoners Wilson and Burke were formally charged in the London police court with the murder of Detective Phair. They were further remanded for a week.

Hon. Mr. Patterson, the Secretary of State, said when in Montreal that the rumor of the early meeting of Parliament was without sound basis, as nothing had been done or considered in connection with the subject.

By an explosion in the electric light works at Rat Portage, James Gordon Rushton, electrician, of Winnipeg, had his head slightly cut; Harding Rideout, of Rat Portage, injuries on the hand and arm; John Hegley, a carpenter, was also injured.

The annual meeting of the Anthracite Coal Company, operating at Anthracite, N.W.T., was held at Ottawa. The old board of directors was re-elected. Thorpe, Centre and Ingram, three of the directors, are coming west to inspect the mines.

Mr. W. T. R. Preston, well known for some years as the energetic secretary of the Ontario Reform Association, has taken charge of the library of the Ontario Legislature, succeeding Mr. William Houston, who is appointed to an important position in the Education Department.

Chief Factor Belanger, of the Hudson's Bay Company, and Stanley Simpson were out on Lake Winnipeg near Norway House, when a squall struck the canoe and both the men were drowned. An Indian started to swim ashore and was picked up by a York boat. Chief Factor Belanger was one of the best known Hudson's Bay Company's officials. He was a half-brother of the late Mr. Letellier, ex-Governor of Quebec.

Mr. Collingwood Schreiber succeeds as Deputy Minister and Chief Engineer of the Department of Railways and Canals. Important changes will shortly be made in the Department. Mr. Trudeau, the Deputy Minister, who for the past year also acted as Secretary and Chief Engineer, will be suspended from November 1. A new position, that of Assistant Chief Engineer at a salary of $3000 a year, will be created. Mr. Balderson will be gazetted as Secretary of the Department. He is now the Minister's Private Secretary.

Following is the correct list of Toronto University senators elected by the Arts graduates:—The Hon. J. M. Gibson, the Hon. Edward Blake, Professor Baker, Mr. W. Houston, M.A.; Mr. W. H. Vandersmissen, M.A., Mr. W. Dale, M.A., Dr. Ellis, the Hon. W. G. Falconbridge, Mr. John King, M.A., Mr. John Seath, B.A., the Rev. W. T. Herridge, B.A., and W. H. Ballard, M.A. Of these eight reside in Toronto, two in Hamilton, one in Ottawa and one in Berlin. Six of the above list are new to the Senate, five old representatives were left out and one (Prof. Loudon), has been made president.

BREAKERS AHEAD.

TO THE EDITOR,—Your contemporary, in an editorial yesterday, is aghast at the danger we have all been running from smallpox patients, who it appears have been perambulating the streets after having acquired the disease, but before the rash came out. It informs us in awe-struck tones, that "the citizens were exposed to contagion in whatever direction they might turn," and that friends and neighbors of Foster "no doubt carried away the infection, and spread it wherever they went."

There is small occasion for such alarm. Had the Colonist submitted its article to a medical man it would have been informed that, although the profession knows little enough about the way in which smallpox is disseminated, it does know that a man is not subject to infection unless his body is in a certain condition. In fact that those who need the smallpox may take it, while those who do not need it may even recklessly expose themselves to infection with impunity. The disease is not sown broadcast by those who have been exposed to a smallpox patient, else doctors and their families would speedily cease to exist.

And this leads to a pertinent question. If those exposed to Foster "carried away the infection and spread it wherever they went," how about the doctors who visited the Jubilee station and Ross Bay daily? Do these doctors possess a charm that is denied to humbler mortals? Did they take any other precaution than to wash their hands?

It is always difficult, and often impossible, to diagnose smallpox with any certainty before the characteristic rash appears, and rheumatism, indigestion, and even a bad cold, give rise to symptoms so similar to those of smallpox in its early stage that patients suffering from these simple diseases have before now been sent off to the smallpox hospital. Have we not had poor Bryno in our midst. He had malarial fever, yet no fewer than four doctors diagnosed his case as smallpox, and he was kept for weeks exposed to infection. But the obstinate man refused to take the disease, although that was very wrong of him, for it made the doctors look foolish.

I do see reason for alarm, though not in the same direction as the Colonist. I see that certain authorities would like to have the power to send to hospital or suspect station any one who develops symptoms that may turn out to be those of smallpox, and I see that they mean to try for such power. But is not this a most dangerous authority to give to any official, doctor or no? Suppose, for instance, I feel sick, and have a bad headache, and pain in the back. Am I to be hurried off to Ross Bay on suspicion of smallpox, with no redress or possibility of return if it should turn out I have not the disease? To carry the argument to its legitimate conclusion, once I am exposed to a suspect I am exposed to infection, and should serve my fourteen days' penal servitude with the rest. This, at all events, is the law as it has been interpreted and carried out by Dr. Praeger, although some, even of his medical brethren, have been heard to scoff, and to remark that he was really quite too conscientious.

If the doctors would direct their attention to the insanitary state of this city, rouse the council to abolish cesspits, and make scavenging a municipal business, pending the completion of our sewage system in the next century; in short, if they were to make Victoria aware of its great deficiencies in the direction of sanitation, and make it a less fruitful ground for epidemics and zymotic diseases, they might have smaller incomes, but they would vastly increase the respect with which they are regarded by their fellowmen.

MEDICUS.

A Lady at the Bay of Quinte Fair.

She Makes an Important Confession.

A lady who was visiting the Bay of Quinte Fair in Belleville, Ont., on September 29th, assured the writer that Harvard Bronchial Syrup was the means of curing a troublesome cough and bronchial troubles, from which she had suffered severely during the first week of September.

She said: "My condition was becoming serious; the painful cough kept me awake night after night, and my chest was very sore. I tried several remedies without good results; I then consulted my doctor, who advised me to give the Harvard Bronchial Syrup a trial. The first dose seemed to have a soothing effect. After using it for twelve hours the cough was almo[illegible] banished and I slept comfortable a[illegible] well. I continued the use of t[illegible] wonderful Syrup for four days and [illegible] cured me perfectly."

This week I've been busy marking off an express shipment of West of England Trouserings and Suitings, the same as worn by the SWELL dressers of the West End of London. Over three hundred patterns to select from, and no shelf-worn or back numbers among them, every line being Fresh, Clean, Crisp and New, Spick and Span—and just gaze at the prizes:

English Serge and Tweed Suitings, $32, $35, $37.
Scotch Cheviots and Bannockburns, $25, $28, $30, $32, $35.
Irish Tweeds and Serges, $28, $30, $33, $36, $39.
Trouserings from $5 up.

A Choice Stock of Goods with HIGH-CLASS AND CLEAN, HONEST WORK are marvels in the Tailoring trade, not to be met with every day. DO YOU CATCH ON? "A hint to the wise is sufficient."

You might just as well make up your mind to get that Winter Suit now. No use putting it off any longer. Just drop in, select your cloth and leave your measure, and its done—I guarantee everything else.

HOW TO KEEP TROUSERS.

A Sure and Simple Preventive Against "Bagging at the Knees."

Never, in any circumstances, hang them up. Always fold them. Creases are largely worn and are perfectly admissible, but if there is an objection to them the trousers can easily be folded so that the crease will not be pronounced. They should be folded over but once—at the knees—and to do it properly take the two first suspender buttons in front and place them together. Do this with your left hand—with your right hand hold the trousers up in the back. They will then hang as they do when they are worn. Then, transferring your hold to the middle, with the left hand, which is now free, catch them at the bottom and bring the two ends together. With a little practice you will be surprised how easy this is. The best place to keep them is on a small walnut table, which can be bought for a dollar or so, and which also has a shelf below.

How to Clean Pearls.

Put them to soak in water in which bran has been boiled, with a little cream of tartar and some alum. As soon as the water is cooled enough rub the pearls gently with the hands until it is cold. Then go through the process with a fresh preparation, keeping on until all discolorations are removed. Finally rinse in lukewarm water, lay on white paper and put in a dark place to dry.

How to Prevent Decay in Wood.

Decay in wood can be prevented by covering it with a varnish composed of twenty parts rosin, forty-six parts finely powdered chalk, a little linseed oil and sulphuric acid, and some hard sand. These are to be mixed and boiled a short time, then applied while hot.

How to Make Paste for Scrapbooks.

Mix a little laundry starch with cold water until it will stir smoothly. Then pour on boiling water until it becomes a clear, jellylike substance. It can be used at once when cool.

How to Mend Broken China.

Make a light paste of the white of an egg and flour. Clean the broken edges from dust, spread them with the paste and hold the parts together while wet, wiping off all that oozes out. It must be held or fastened in position until dry. A perfectly colorless cement is made by dissolving a half ounce of gum arabic in a wine glass of boiling water and adding plaster of paris to form a thick paste. Use at once, applying with a thick brush.

How to Prepare Homemade Lamp Wicks.

Put canton flannel three times as wide as required, fold it the proper width and overcast the edges. This is a good substitute for woven wicks.

How to Tell the Best Dog in a Litter.

Take them all a distance away from their bed and see which the mother carries back first. Sportsmen say this is always the best dog.

How to Make Sun Cholera Mixture.

Take equal parts of tincture of cayenne pepper, tincture of opium, tincture of rhubarb, essence of peppermint and spirits of camphor. Mix well. Dose, fifteen to thirty drops in a little cold water, according to age and violence of the symptoms, repeated every fifteen or twenty minutes until relief is obtained.

A BY-LAW

TO ENABLE the Corporation of the City of Victoria to borrow the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars for the purposes therein set forth.

Whereas it is necessary that the streets and sidewalks should be maintained and bridges improved and constructed, and whereas an insufficient sum of the present year's unexpended revenue is at this time available for such work, it is therefore deemed expedient to raise a sum of money for the above purposes.

And whereas for the purposes aforesaid it is intended to raise by way of loan upon the credit of the city the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars.

And whereas it will require the sum of $1,289.09 to be raised annually by special rate for the payment of the debt and interest as hereinafter mentioned.

And whereas the amount of the whole ratable property of the said Corporation of the City of Victoria according to the revised assessment roll, for the year 1891, was $17,563,148.

And whereas it will require an annual special rate of 3-40th of a mill in the dollar for the payment of the interest and the creating an equal yearly sinking fund for paying the principal of the said interest debt, according to the Municipal Act, 1892.

And whereas it is intended to reduce the general rate so that the said Special rate shall not increase the total rate of taxation.

Be it therefore enacted by the Corporation of the City of Victoria as follows:

SECTION 1.—It shall be lawful for the Mayor of the Corporation of the City of Victoria to borrow upon the credit of the said Corporation, by way of the debentures hereinafter mentioned, from any person or persons, body or bodies corporate who may be willing to advance the same as a loan, a sum of money not exceeding in the whole the sum of $25,000.00 currency, or sterling money at the rate of $4.86 2-3rds dollars to the one pound sterling, and to cause all such sums so raised or received to be paid into the hands of the Treasurer of the said Corporation for the purpose and with the object hereinbefore recited.

SECTION 2.—It shall be lawful for the said Mayor to cause any number of debentures to be made for such sums as may be required, not exceeding, however, the sum of $25,000.00 either in currency or sterling money (at the rate of $4.86 2-3 dollars to the one pound sterling) as may be required, each of the said debentures being of the amount of $1,000 or its sterling equivalent at the rate aforesaid, and all such debentures shall be sealed with the seal of the said Corporation and signed by the Mayor thereof.

SEC. (3).—The said debentures shall be made payable in fifty years from the date hereinafter mentioned for this By-law to take effect, at the office of the Treasurer of the said Corporation in the City Hall, Victoria, and shall have attached to them coupons for the payment of interest, and the signature of the Mayor or of the Clerk of the Corporation respectively to the coupons may be affixed by printed, stamped or lithographed fac simile.

SECTION 4.—The said debentures shall bear interest at the rate of 4½ per cent. per annum from the date thereof, which interest shall be payable half-yearly at the office of the said Treasurer.

SEC. (5). For the purpose of forming a sinking fund for the payment of the said debentures and the interest to become due thereon, an equal special rate of 3-40ths of a mill in the dollar shall in addition to all other rates be levied and collected in each year upon all rateable property within the City of Victoria during the continuance of the said debentures or any of them.

SECTION 6.—This By-law shall before the final passage thereof receive the assent of the electors of the said Corporation in the manner provided for by the Municipal Act, 1892, and shall take effect on the 14th day of October, 1892.

SECTION 7.—This By-law may be cited as the "Street Loan By-Law, 1892."

Passed the Municipal Council this 28th day of September, 1892.

Received the assent of and confirmed by the Municipal Electors on the 11th day of October, 1892.

Reconsidered, adopted and finally passed the Municipal Council on the 12th day of October, A.D. 1892.

NOTICE.

The above is a true copy of a by-law passed by the Municipal Council of the City of Victoria on the 12th day of October, 1892, and all persons are hereby required to take notice that anyone desirous of applying to have such by-law or any part thereof quashed, must make his application for that purpose to the Supreme Court within one month next after the publication of this by-law in the British Columbia Gazette, or he will be too late to be heard in that behalf.

Extension of Broad Street to Cormorant by Local Improvement.

Pursuant to section 15 of By-law 170, a by-law to provide for the assessment of real property benefitted by Local Improvements, the following is hereby published, viz:—

CITY HALL, Victoria, Oct. 5, 1892.

His Worship the Mayor and Board of Aldermen.

GENTLEMEN—We, the undersigned, having received a copy of a resolution passed by the Council on the 28th of September, re Broad street extension across lot 1252, block T, have the honor to submit the report and plan attached, in conformity with sections 1 and 5, by-law 170, intituled "A By-law to provide for the assessment of real property benefitted by local improvements."

The following is a description of the real property which in our opinion will be benefitted by the proposed improvement, viz: A portion of the southerly half of Block N., composed of lots 584, 585; east half of 589, 590, 591, 592; the easterly part of 535, 1252 and 1251, Block T.; 657, 658, 659, 660, and part of 661, of the westerly part of Block U.; also 661, 663, 666, 667 and a part of 668, a portion of the easterly part of Block U, also 159a, 160a, 161a, and 162a, a portion of the westerly part of Block 2; also 423, 424, a portion of the easterly part of Block 2; also 164a 165a, 166a, 167a, 168a, 169a, and 170a, and 414, a portion of the westerly part of Block 13; also 406, 413, 416, and 429, a portion of the easterly part of Block 13

2. We consider the proposed improvement will be permanent.

3. The estimate cost of the proposed extension, including right-of-way, removing and making good buildings, grading and macadamizing street, sidewalks, etc., is $12,000, which amount is assessed against the property, that in our opinion is immediately benefited.

4. The proportion in which the assessment is made on the various portions of the real property benefited, is described in detail in the list hereto attached. The real property benefited is shown in red on the plan attached.

Sub-Section D, showing the Proportion on which the Assessment is to be made on the various Lots benefited.

CITY HEALTH NOTICE

THE ACTING MEDICAL HEALTH OFFICER for the City of Victoria recommends that all citizens be required to thoroughly clean up their premises, removing all garbage heaps, decaying vegetables, stable manure, and night soil, and disinfecting all closets and drains as often as necessary, and generally to comply with the provisions of the "Consolidated Health By Law."

By order,
WELLINGTON J. DOWLER, C.M.C.

Victoria, October 1, 1892.

EXTRACTS FROM THE "CONSOLIDATED HEALTH BY-LAW.

ACCUMULATION OF FILTH.

No person shall permit or suffer the accumulation, so as to be a nuisance, of any offal, filth, refuse, stagnant water, or other offensive matter or thing upon his premises, or on any vacant lot belonging to him, or for the owner or lessee of which he is the agent.

No person shall place on any land or in or upon any street, road, or highway, any manure or other refuse matter, or any dirt or filth which is, or is likely to become, a nuisance.

No person shall convey or cause to be conveyed through any street, road, or highway any night-soil, swill, or other filth or offensive matter dangerous to health, between the hours of six in the morning and twelve in the evening, or at any time except in a proper covered cart or vehicle, so as to prevent slopping or spilling.

Every tenant or occupier of a building shall dispose of all animal and vegetable refuse from such building or on the premises occupied therewith, either by burning the same or by placing it in a proper covered receptacle, the contents of which he shall cause to be removed at least once every week.

No person shall throw into, or leave in or upon, any street, court, square, road, lane, alley, wharf, public enclosure, vacant lot, pond, or body of water, any dead animal, dirt, sawdust, soot, ashes, cinders, shavings, hair, shreds, manure, fish shells, waste water or filth of any kind, or any refuse, animal, or vegetable matter whatever.

DRAINAGE AND PRIVIES.

The owner, lessee, agent, or person having the care of any ground, yard, vacant lot, or other property where stagnant water or other nuisance exists, abutting on any street through which a common sewer shall have been constructed shall cause the same to be effectually drained into such common sewer.

The owner, lessee, agent, or occupier of any building or premises used as a dwelling house, hotel, restaurant, saloon, shop, store, office, factory, wash-house, or otherwise, shall furnish the same with a sufficient drain under ground to carry off all waste or foul water or liquid filth; and no such drain shall empty or discharge into or upon any street, road, or highway, or any open drain thereon, unless in the opinion of the Mayor and Council the same shall not be detrimental to the public health.

All vaults and privies shall be made tight, so that the contents thereof cannot escape therefrom, and as remote from any dwelling, well, or water tank as practicable.

OVERCROWDING.

No person shall let or occupy, or suffer to be occupied, as a dwelling or lodging, any room which—

(a.) Does not contain at all times at least 384 cubic feet of space for each person occupying the same;

(b.) Has not a window made to open in a manner approved by the Medical Health Officer or the Sanitary Inspector; or

(c.) Has not appurtenant to it the use of a water-closet, earth closet or privy, constructed in accordance with the by-laws and regulations of the City.

And every room in which a person passes the night, or is found between midnight and five o'clock in the forenoon, shall be deemed to be occupied as a dwelling or lodging within the meaning of this section.

SLAUGHTER-HOUSES.

No person shall erect, open, or use any slaughter-house within the limits of the City of Victoria.

EVENTION OF THE SPREAD OF DISEASE.

Whenever a person suffering from smallpox, cholera, or any other disease of a malignant character dangerous to the public health, is an inmate of any hotel or boarding house, the keeper, or one of the keepers, of such hotel or boarding-house shall immediately give notice thereof to the Medical Health Officer or the Sanitary Inspector, who shall thereupon take such steps as may be deemed necessary to prevent the spread of such disease.

Every medical practitioner attending or visiting any person who is suffering from smallpox, cholera, or any other disease of a malignant character dangerous to the public health, shall immediately give notice thereof to the Medical Health Officer or the Sanitary Inspector, who shall thereupon take such steps as may be deemed necessary to prevent the spread of such disease.

Any officer of the Corporation may seize, and under the direction of the Medical Health Officer, the Mayor or the Sanitary Inspector, destroy any tainted or unwholesome meat, poultry, fish, or other article of food exposed or offered for sale.

PENALTY.

Every person guilty of an infraction of any of the provisions of this by-law shall, upon conviction thereof, in a summary manner, before the Police Magistrate or any two Justices of the Peace having jurisdiction in the City, forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding fifty dollars, and costs if ordered; and if such penalty, and costs if ordered, be not paid immediately or within such period as such Police Magistrate or Justices may appoint, the same may be levied by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of the offender, or such offender may be imprisoned, with or without hard labor, for any term not exceeding three calendar months, unless such penalty, and costs if ordered, be sooner paid.

THE RUSSIAN CLAIM.

The Russians, according to the official organ of the Government, have somewhat contracted their claim to jurisdiction over the waters of the ocean. When the commander of the Zabiaka commenced operations he was going to seize all sealers found within a thousand miles of the Russian coast. The limit was contracted afterwards, but still it included a good wide stretch of the Pacific to the south of the islands which are supposed to bound Behring Sea. Now it is officially set forth that the Russians consider themselves justified in seizing Canadian sealers at a distance of 18 or 80 miles from their coast. It does not appear to matter very much whether they set up 18 or 80 miles as the limit of their jurisdiction; the point to be decided is the right of any nation to change the limit from what has been recognized by all nations. If either the United States or Russia is at liberty to draw a new line for itself, then Great Britain, Germany or any other country must enjoy the same privilege. How would the fishermen of the United States like to be made liable to capture if found fishing within nine miles of the Atlantic coast of Canada? It appears from the actions of the Canadian and Imperial Governments that there will be more than a mere protest against Russia's action, and there is hope that our injured sealers will receive compensation from the Bear.

PECKSNIFF & CO.

With an agility born of long practice the Colonist has again dodged the question in moral proportion which we presented for its consideration. Instead of giving its opinion as to the relative weights of sin attaching to the conduct of Mr. Laurier and Sir Adolphe Caron, it goes into a disquisition on the conduct of Mr. Edgar, winding up by asking us to find the answer to our question in a communication which appears in its columns over the signature of "Toby." On examination the Colonist and "Toby" appear very much like twin brothers. We humbly submit to our contemporary that Mr. Edgar's conduct has nothing whatever to do with the case. If Mr. Edgar's action in refusing to appear before the commission were ever so reprehensible, it would not affect the terms of the problem which we asked the Colonist to work out. Nor is it at all necessary to prejudge the case of Sir Adolphe Caron; all that we asked the Colonist to consider was the chain of facts established by the evidence already given before the Commission and by the published documents bearing Sir Adolphe's own signature. The documents proved that money to the amount of $112,000 was spent under Caron's direction in the eastern part of Quebec Province in the election of 1887. The evidence of Mr. Beemer and Thos. McGreevy proves that at least $25,000 of this money was contributed by the former, who had at that time received a large subsidy from the Government for building the Lake St. John railway, and who was looking for more. Anybody with so sharp a scent for political immorality as that which the Colonist possesses should be able at once to "size up" Sir Adolphe's offence and institute a comparison between it and the offence of Mr. Laurier, which consisted in appearing in the court where Mercier was to be tried and in being polite to the fallen politician. Yet the Colonist is either unable or unwilling to do this, wherefore the public may judge of its capability as a censor of political morals.

"Toby," it seems, rushes in where the Colonist fears to tread—which is not to say, by any means, that the Colonist is an angel. Now one of the most characteristic acts of a fool is to misapprehend what other people say, and friend Toby promptly proves his right to the title by totally misapprehending the question so plainly set forth by the TIMES. Had he not been so very gross a fool he would easily have seen that we invited the Colonist to compare the conduct of Caron and Laurier, not Caron and Mercier. Toby cites Judge Chauveau's judgment in the preliminary trial of the charges against the ex-Premier and then asks us if we "accuse Sir A. Caron of deliberately taking Government money to pay his private debts, as the judgment says Mr. Mercier did." Any person of sense can see that this question is quite beside the subject. We may say to Mr. Toby, however, that we do not accuse Sir Adolphe of the particular offence he mentions, nor have we ever so accused him. But taking Mr. Toby on his own ground, that gentleman must admit that from the standpoint of morality there is practically no difference between taking public money to pay one's private debts and taking it to corrupt the electorate. If there is any difference the latter offence is the worse, and the gravity of the offence is not lessened by the money being secured through an intermediary.

As already remarked, the Colonist's references to Mr. Edgar's course have no bearing whatever on the question at issue. The only result our neighbor effected by offering them as a substitute for the answer it should have given was to show afresh that it is not capable of taking an honest or impartial view of a political oppnent's actions. It totally ignores the fact that the charges submitted to the commission are not the charges made by Mr. Edgar. That gentleman said more than once in Parliament that he would not undertake to establish the accusations which the Government substituted for his, but he was quite prepared to make good his own accusations. He has been amply justified by the disclosures made before the commission. The evidence has shown most conclusively that Caron is guilty as charged by Edgar, since it has shown that he took money from contractor Beemer to spend corruptly in the Quebec districts. All this the Colonist knows but is not honest enough to admit. Moreover, the Colonist is entirely astray when it asserts that "the commission is doing the work for which it was appointed, without the slightest help from Mr. Edgar and the rest of Sir Adolphe's accusers." It should know, if it does not, that Mr. Edgar furnished the commission with a list of witnesses whom he would have examined before a committee of the House if he had been granted one, and it was from some of these witnesses that the commission extracted the damaging evidence to which we have referred. The net result of the affair is that while Mr. Edgar has kept out of the trap so cunningly laid for him by the Minister of Justice, his arraignment of Caron has been clearly made good.

It may be permitted us in conclusion to offer a piece of friendly advice to the Colonist. When our neighbor again goes gunning for political sinners it should point its weapon straight towards its Ottawa masters, when it may be sure it will not fail to bring down some game.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

If the Blair Government in New Brunswick is not actually defeated it will have a "mighty close call." On Saturday there were elected 20 Government and 17 Opposition members, with one Independent. Premier Blair himself was among the defeated, though all his colleagues were elected. This leaves three members to be elected today, and the fate of the Government would seem to hang on to-day's results.

The Colorado Democrats have been instructed by the National Committee to put forth their best efforts to secure a solid vote in that state for Gen. Weaver, the People's Party candidate. Even the Democratic state ticket is to be withdrawn. It is quite possible that by a few coalitions of this sort the Democrats may succeed in throwing the presidential election into Congress, if they do not succeed in capturing the college. As the House of representatives would have the choosing, Cleveland would then of course get the seat.

It is very hard to tell just how much importance to attach to Mr. Chapleau's announcement at Hochelaga that he intends to retire from politics and leave the Quebec leadership to Mr. Ouimet. There can be no doubt, however, about his health being poor, a circumstance which gives his statement all the appearance of probability. That he can succeed in handing on the leadership to Mr. Ouimet is not at all certain. It Governor Angers will be sure to take an active part in politics after he has his over his present office to Chapleau. He is ambitious and energetic, and is have the support of the Caron-Laurier wing against the nominee of the old rival. The retirement of the Minister of Customs will hardly heal old sores among the Bleus.

Some new and formerly unsuspected traits in the character of Robert Burns will be brought out by the lecture by Miss Howieson, in the Philharmonic Hall, Fort street, on Friday evening. Election of officers Court Emma, A.O.F., next Thursday.

WHY AND WHEREFORE.

The Peculiar Tactics of the Police in the Hunter Affair.

Chief of Police Houston, of Westminster, "escorted" Miss "Birdie" Kazar to the Royal City on Sunday night. The Kazar woman was arrested by the provincial police and lodged in jail to wait the arrival of Westminster's famed Vidocq. The Kazar woman was said to be "wanted" as a witness against the Beegans, who were arrested near Ashcroft. But "Birdie" Kazar may have to answer to a more serious charge.

At the time of the murder the police of Westminster stuck to the suicide theory. The newspaper men of that city told the police of their error. But Chief Houston had expressed his opinion finally. Evidence was given before the coroner's jury that should, if well worked up have been the means of securing a conviction.

The Hunter woman was found dead in bed, her limbs pinioned, a gag in her mouth, her wardrobe ransacked and money and articles of jewelry missing. Dr. Fagan, the physician, stated that she had died a hard death. Because the woman was a cigarette fiend and her heart and lungs were diseased, the other evidence was ignored.

A Chinaman working at a house which looked towards the Hunter woman's house swore that he saw one of the girls of the house at the door of May Hunter's room leading into the outer passage way at 8 o'clock of the morning of the murder. The Celestial pointed out the woman. Another woman was in the room with her at the time. The woman pointed out swore that she did not leave her room till 10 o'clock that evening. The Chinaman's evidence was not believed upon the ground that a Chinaman did not know the time of day. Pearl Deming, alias Nellie Smith, and "Birdie" Kazar, the inmates of the house, were not arrested at the time of the murder.

Four months after the murder the Chief of Police of Westminster placed them under arrest. In the interim he was converted from the suicide to the murder theory. Chief Houston at the time of the murder set off in a wild goose chase to Victoria to watch the Beegans. He lost his clue, stumbled against another, had an innocent man arrested in San Francisco and barely escaped a suit for illegal arrest. Chief Houston asked Chief Sheppard of Victoria to help him out of the muddle. Chief Sheppard volunteered to locate the whereabouts of the Beegans.

Sheppard sent Houston word that they were at Ashcroft and subsequently removed to Quesnelle. This was six weeks ago. When Houston knew where they were he did not arrest them. The job was left for the provincial police. Sergt. Carty, of Westminster, told his chief about seeing persons answering the description of the Beegans early on the morning of the murder and a member of his police force secured the information that a young man stept in the Hunter house the night of the murder. This went to discredit the girls' story, who both swore that they and the murdered woman were the only occupants of the house that night. But Sergeant Carty and the aforesaid member of the police force had no right to think. Chief Houston was the man of ideas. His idea was suicide. But now he has embraced the murder theory.

The evidence that can be brought againgt the Beegans or the Kazar woman is very meagre, and it is thought that a conviction cannot be secured. Had the police acted energetically to start with, the case would have been solved before now.

FOOTBALL.

SATURDAY'S MATCH.

On Saturday last the fastest and most exciting game of the season was played at Beacon Hill, between the Navy and the Victoria Association clubs, resulting in a victory by 9 goals to 2 for Victoria. The visitors played a losing game with well sustained spirit, and to the very close forced the pace on the Victoria eleven. The Navy team hold a well earned reputation as Rugby players, but Saturday proved that the Association game is not their forte. The fact of their playing 6 forwards rather told against the Navy team; as, instead of aiding combination it caused them to foul each other and to play at cross purposes. The Victoria played a good combination game, especially on the forward right wing. The defence of the Victoria backs was also a strong point in the game. The pace throughout was rapid and excellently sustained on both sides.

AN IMPORTANT MEETING.

On Thursday evening, the 22nd inst., a meeting of the Victoria Asssociation football club will be held in the James Bay club house at 8 o'clock to elect a captain for the second eleven, and to consider the necestity of forming such an without further loss of time. The season promises to be a busy one in association circles, so it is hoped the members of the club will turn out on Friday evening in order that the business on hand may be completed expeditiously.

CONSECRATION SERVICES.

The Church of England Cemetery Consecrated by the Bishop Yesterday Afternoon.

Impressive Services Conducted by Bishop Hills—Singing by the Choirs.

The new Church of England portion of Ross Bay cemetery was yesterday afternoon consecrated by Right Rev. Bishop Hills, Lord Bishop of Columbia. The addition to the cemetery consists of two acres of ground directly east of the cemetery at present in use.

There was a very large attendance yesterday to witness the services, which were beautiful and impressive. The clergymen present, were: Bishop Hills and his chaplain, Rev. W. H. P. Arden; Archdeacon Scriven, Canon Beanlands, and Reverends Hewetson, Taylor, Lipscombe and Sharpe. The surpliced choirs of Christ Church Cathedral, St. John's and St. Barnabas were present, and took part in the musical portion of the services. The choirs were under the leadership of Mr. H. Kent.

The Bishop was received at the farther gate by the Clergy, the choirs and the congaegation, where Hon. Justice Crease presented the petition for the consecration of the ground. The Bishop, after receiving the petition, handed it to Mr. Lindley Crease, the registrar, who read it. The Bishop consented to the petition by saying: "I am consenting and ready to do as you have desired, and beseech God to bless and prosper this good work."

Having offered a short prayer, the Bishop, followed by the Clergy, choirs and the members of the different parishes, proceeded around the grounds, alternately repeating the 49th psalm, followed by a hymn. The procession halted at a table which had been placed in the centre of the grounds. The Bishop stood by the table surrounded by the members of the choir.

The prayer of consecration was delivered by the Bishop as follows: "O God, who has taught us in Thy holy word that there is a difference between the spirit of a beast that goeth downwards to the earth, and the spirit of a man who ascendeth up to God Who gave; and likewise by the example of Thy holy servants, in all ages, has taught us to assign peculiar places where the bodies of Thy saints may rest in peace, and be preserved from all indignities, whilst their souls are safely kept in the hands of their faithful Redeemer: Accept, we beseech Thee, this charitable work of ours, in separating this portion of ground to that good purpose; and give us grace, that by the frequent instances of mortality which we behold, we may learn, and seriously consider, how frail and uncertain our condition here on earth is, and so number our days as to apply our hearts unto wisdom. That in the midst of life thinking of death, and daily preparing ourselves for the judgment that is to follow, we may have our part in the resurrection to eternal life, with Him who died for our sins, and rose again for our justification, and now liveth and reigneth with Thee and the Holy Ghost, one God, world without end. Amen.

The sentence of consecration having been delivered to the commissary by the Bishop, the former publicly pronounced it, after which the Bishop signed it.

Prayers having been said, the Bishop delivered a short address, followed by the singing of Hymn No. 140 by the choirs. The Bishop pronounced the Benediction, and then proceeded to the gate, preceded by clergy and choirs, singing Hymn No. 274.

The Imprisoned Seamen.

The case of the seamen of the ship Bankburn, removed on certiorari into the Supreme Court, was argued at noon to-day before his Lordship Mr. Justice Crease. The grounds on which his Lordship was asked to quash the conviction of the stipendiary magistrate were reduced to the following:—That the prisoners had not been guilty of disobedience for 24 hours according to the evidence; that, even if they had been so guilty, the magistrate could not impose a penalty of $12 on each seaman, the limit being six days' pay; that as a matter of fact each seaman received only 12 shillings for six days' work, although there was nothing in the evidence to show what wages were given, and that there was nothing to show that substitutes had been hired, or that, if they were, they charged $156 for their services. For the defence it was contended that the mode of procedure was not the proper one, as an erroneous finding (assuming this decision to be erroneous) on questions of fact could be reviewed only on appeal, and not by certiorari. His Lordship on the conclusion of the argument, stated that he would give a decision at 4 o'clock.

A General Meeting.

A meeting will be held at the Synod office to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock of all persons interested in presenting the Lord Bishop of Columbia with some memorial commemorative of his long ministration in this diocese. No other notice of the meeting has been given, and all interested are requested to be present.

Highly Privileged.

Dr. Richardson, of the quarantine hospital, will be given the privilege of explaining in the police court the reason why he ordered a suspect house on the quarantine grounds fired without first consulting Chief Deasy of the fire department. A summons was taken out against him this morning.

The Unpardonable Sin.

Dowell, a Saanich Indian, was arrested this afternoon trying to sell pheasants. He has seven hens and five cock birds in his possession. In the provincial police court he was fined $50, option 30 days in jail.

A Dangerous Cistern.

The cistern at the corner of Quebec and Oswego streets is overflowing, making a mud hole of the neighborhood. Besides this the cistern is dangerous to drive over.

Gladstone's Birthplace.

Seized Sealers Coming Home.

Collector Milne has received a letter from Admiral Hotham, which states that the crews of the seized sealers Maria and Carmolite will arrive on the Empress of India on October 29th.

The Coquitlam Enquiry.

The Coquitlam case will be resumed before United States Consul Myers Wednesday morning. The adjournment was until Tuesday morning, but the lawyers cannot attend before Wednesday.

The First to Arrive.

Rev. Father Althoff, of Juneau, Alaska, arrived in Victoria this morning. Father Althoff is the first to arrive of the visiting clergy who will take part in the St. Andrew's Roman Catholic church dedication Sunday.

Masquerade Ball.

A masquerade ball will be given in the Philharmonic Hall on Tuesday the 25th inst. A prize will be given for the best lady waltzer in costume. All maskers will be identified. Admission, gentleman maskers $1, ladies free.

Dedication of the Cathedral.

Archbishop Grosse, of Portland, will preach on Sunday at the solemn high mass following the dedication of St. Andrew's Roman Catholic cathedral. Early masses will be celebrated in the old church every half hour from 6 to 10 o'clock.

A Ladies' Reception.

Rev. Dr. Campbell of the First Presbyterian Church left for the Mainland last night to meet Mrs. Campbell and family, who will arrive from the east to-night. The ladies of the church will tender Mrs. Campbell a reception on Friday evening.

Lacrosse Club Concert.

A meeting of the committee appointed to arrange for a concert in connection with the lacrosse club, will meet this evening. The committee promise a musical treat in the concert, many local musicians having volunteered their sereices.

The Story is Doubted.

Collector Milne telegraphed the British consul at San Francisco for confirmation of the story alleging that Capt. de Leveron, of the Russian cruiser Zabiaka, is insane. He has not yet received a reply. The story is doubted in some quarters.

Ready For the Winter.

The steamer Islander goes on the Vancouver route to-morrow morning in place of the Yosemite. The other boat will go on the river route for a fortnight, to clear up the freight that is waiting to come down, and then she will be laid up for the winter. The Louise will do the Fraser river work during the winter.

To Fight Her Enemies.

A pastoral letter of Arcobishop Grosse and the bishops of the archdiocese of Portland, was read in St. Andrew's Catholic church on Sunday morning, urging Catholics to subscribe to a Catholic newspaper. The pastoral states that the church must fight her enemies with their own weapon, the press.

A Long Run for Nothing.

A suspect house at the Jubilee quarantine was set on fire by order of the authorities on Saturday night. An alarm of fire was turned in and the brigade had a long run needlessly. There is a fire ordinance requiring the chief of the fire department to be applied to for permission to set fire to houses within the city limits. This was ignored.

His Resignation Demanded.

The following paragraph appears in a late issue of the Globe: "Æmilius Irving, Q. C., has just concluded an investigation of a series of charges preferred against Sheriff William Sutton of Bruce County. The sheriff is accused of conduct unbecoming a person in his position. A copy of the commissioner's report has been forwarded to him, and his resignation has been called for by the government."

"Oliver Cromwell."

This evening, in Calvary Baptist church, Mr. W. Marchant will deliver a lecture upon "Oliver Cromwell." Mr. Marchant is too well known as a speaker and scholar to need extended notice, but the opportunity thus presented to hear one in every way capable of doing justice to the immortal qualities of the soldier-statesman, and presenting his merits and his weaknesses in the most impartial light, is a rare one. That the thoughtful and intelligent portion of the community will fill the comfortable church to hear Mr. Marchant's masterly dissertation upon "Oliver Cromwell," cannot be doubted.

The Smallpox in Seattle.

Albert Head is not likely to be the only quarantine station in the world which will come in for severe criticism. The following from Saturday's Seattle Post-Intelligencer sounds strangely like something people have heard before: No new cases of smallpox developed yesterday, but Health Officer Sparling had his hands full at the pest house. He went out to attend to the patients about noon and found things in a general state of eruption. Three of the men were delirious and acting in a manner similar to Indians when enjoying a war dance. E. W. Small, who furnishes supplies to the pest house, returned to the city last evening and gives a vivid account of the actions of the delirious patients. Dr. Sparling has the assistance of two nurses, a man and a woman, but it is difficult to keep any semblance of order. One of the men, clad in nature's garments, took an axe and chased the male nurse around the building. Dr. Sparling grabbed the axe and finally got it away. Then the fellow wanted to kill the doctor, and called for a gun. It is needless to say that he did not get it, and after a great deal of labor quiet was restored.

An intellectual feast will be provided for the public at the Philharmonic Hall, Fort street, on Friday evening. Admission 50c. *

EXPRESSION OF GRATITUDE.

The Congregation of St. James Present an Address to Bishop Hills.

The Bishop Preaches His Farewell Sermon to the Parishioners of St. James.

The Right Rev. Bishop Hills preached his last sermon before his departure for England, in St. James church yesterday morning. Immediately after the services, which were conducted by the bishop, Col. R. Wolfenden, one of the wardens of St. James church, presented His Lordship with an address, handsomely engrossed. The following is the address:

Parish of St. James, Victoria, diocese of British Columbia. Presented October 23rd, 1892.

To the Right Rev. George Hills, D.D., Lord Bishop of Columbia

We, the incumbent, church wardens and church committee, on behalf of the parishioners of St. James, Victoria, desire on this last occasion of your presence amongst us to express our unfeigned regret at the loss which we, in common with the rest of this diocese, are about to experience in your Lordship's departure. We are not unmindful of the many proofs of your Lordship's kindly interest which we have received during the nearly eight years of our existence as a parish and we sincerely hope and believe that that interest will not cease when you have gone from us.

We know well that the diocese over which, for more than three and thirty years you have borne faithful rule, as its chief pastor, will ever retain a chief place in your memory and we ask that this Parish may have its share in your kind remembrance and in your prayers.

We, for our part, shall not cease to remember you with grateful affection, we shall not fail to pray for you, that after your long labor in the Lord's vineyard, you may be spared to enjoy peaceful rest. And so we bid you heartily farewell, grieving, indeed at the thought that we shall see your face and hear your voice no more, but looking forward to that day when pastor and people will meet again in the Brighter Land where there are no partings.

(Signed) Austin Scriven, Incumbent; R. Wolfenden and Tom Kain, church wardens; E. C. Baker, C. J. Leggatt, Wm. W. Northcott, Philip D. Goepel, M. S. Wade, Geo. Jay, jr., E. W. Mallandaine, Jno. Nicholles, church committee; C. A. Goffin, secretary.

The Bishop replied briefly, thanking the congregation for their kind words.

The address is a very handsome one, being engrossed on parchment. It includes a picture of St. James' Church, Sunday school and parsonage taken for the purpose. Mr. Mallandaine engrossed the address.

SIX MONTHS' EXPLORING.

Messrs. Gauvreau and Party Return From Their Northern Trip.

Mr. N. B. Gauvreau and Mr. O. L. Poudrier, who have been up in the northern portions of the province for the last six months, returned home yesterday. They have been exploring the country for the Provincial Government and are now preparing a report on what they found. The party went in on the western boundary of Cassiar and struck into the interior. They came to the coast along the Takoo River, through Alaska. They then followed the northern boundary of the province, being sometimes in British Columbia and other times in Alaska through the Chil Coot pass to the northwest.

Captain William Moore, who left Victoria with the party, is now at Juneau, having remained behind. The gentlemen who returned are not prepared to say what they found until they have reported to the Government.

RUMORS OF SMALLPOX.

Report of an Outbreak of the Dread Disease Among the West Coast Indians.

A surveying party that recently returned from the West, reported that there was a rumor on the coast that smallpox had broken out among the Indians at Ucuiet and Esperanza Inlet. Rumors come from other sources to the same effect. It is known that the Indians prevented a man who was suffering from venereal disease from landing at Esparanza, contending that he had the smallpox.

As soon as Judge Vowell, Superintendent of Indian Affairs, heard of the rumor, he sent messengers to the agents on the West Coast to investigate the report, and if it was true to take every precaution to prevent the introduction or spread of the dread disease. The rumors are very vague, and it is just possible that there is not a particle of truth in them. However, the Indian Department will look into the matter thoroughly.

THE GAMBLING CAMPAIGN.

Scared the Interpreter—The Dens Forcibly Entered.

Another notice was placarded on the Chinese bulletin board, corner of Cormorant and Government streets this morning. The notice was similar in tone to the others, the gist of which appeared in the TIMES on Saturday. Ah Wing, the Chinese interpreter, did not appear in court this morning. When Chief of Police Sheppard called Ah Wing he did not reply. The Celestial crowd laughed and several Chinamen mumbled something to each other that the notices on the bulletin board had had the desired effect. Ah Wing was cowed.

Tom Sin, a teacher in the Chinese mission, did the interpreting. Tom Sin's name was also referred to. Sin seems to have backbone and says he does not care a rap for all the Chinamen.

The police had a lively time on Sunday. They invaded Chinatown. The doors of the gambling dens were barred against them. Officers Smith and Abel armed themselves with axes, and crash, bang, crash went the partitions, and the law with the more than ornamental fasces entered the inner precincts. The Chinamen had fled, but the fan tan tables remained. The tables were chopped up into convenient firewood and the officers left. In the afternoon another raid was made. The Celestials again barred the doors. Down came the doors and partition a second time, and the fan tan game was broken up for the day.

Magistrate Macrae will render judgment in the Chinese gambling cases on Wednesday or Thursday next. This morning was fixed by the court, but Mr. Macrae is suffering from an injured limb, and will be unable to take his seat for a few days.

THE CITY SIN MILL.

Chinese Fish Dealers Reproved—The Gambling Cases.

Justices of the peace Dalby and Shakespeare presided in the police court this morning. Magistrate Macrae was unable to attend through illness. Lua Kee was charged with letting fish remain on the sidewalk. The Celestial pleaded that it had been there only a few hours. Chief Sheppard said that a few weeks would be nearer the mark. Fined $2.50.

Hop Lee, charged with a similar offense, pleaded ignorance of the law. Mr. Dalby said that if he went into business he was supposed to know the law. Fined $2.50

F. M. Yarrand, charged with vagrancy did not appear. A warrant was issued.

The Chinese lottery cases were remanded till Thursday to be dealt with by Magistrate Macrae.

THE DUTY OF RESTING.

An Art Which is Very Much Less Understood Than is Generally Supposed.

Effect of the Body on the Mind—How to Control the Nerves.

There must be more art about this ability to rest than is generally supposed, if we may judge by the many lamentable failures.

A person's ability to rest depends entirely upon his ability to relax the five hundred and more muscles in his body. When this can be done we are physically released, and almost invariably all mental strain is also removed. Alas! no art can be mastered in a day, but any art so vitally useful as this should not be neglected another day. Right here lies the solution of the great problem, how can the over-worked and worn-out and tired women find relief? The answer is practical and right to the point—they must learn to use more economy in the expenditure of physical force, and beside this, they must know how to rest.

Friction is wearing out many more people than actual labor is wearing out. It is certainly a great question to answer when one asks, "How shall we be able to adapt ourselves at all times to all places?"—for it is one of our life-long labors to "fit ourselves to our sphere;" yet the very first thing to learn, both for our own good and for the benefit of those around us, is the way to rest.

The mind and body constantly react upon each other, and the effects are shown in both. If you do a hard day's work to-day and spend your resting time to-morrow in thinking over what you have done, you might just about as well do the work over again, so far as the effect upon the body is concerned. This truth is too little understood and appreciated. We must do the difficult and disagreeable tasks which come in our programme and then pass on. Said Edmund Burke: "It is not to be imagined how much of good service is lost from active spirits full of energy, who would rush forward to great and capital objects, but for their habit and the habit of those about them of continually looking back. Let them applaud and let us listen when we run; let them console and let us listen when we fall; let them cheer and let us listen when we recover; but let us pass on—for God's sake let us pass on!"

Here is an idea of the way to gain control over the muscles and nerves, with a view to their being voluntarily relaxed. When a few moments of leisure can be taken, throw yourself down upon a bed or the floor (a couch is not wide enough) and let all the limbs drop as lifeless as possible. Then put your attention upon one arm and try to imagine that it is disconnected at the shoulder and is no part of your body. Think of all four limbs in this manner and also try to think that they are very heavy. Close your eyes softly (do not hold them tightly together) and allow the lower jaw to drop. As you lie there, be careful that your thoughts do not lead you to tightening up any muscle. A friend can take hold of your limbs and "prove" them—that is, see that they are relaxed. When perfectly surrendered, they will be "limp as a rag," to use a common expession. Instead of resting in their chairs and on their beds, people are "holding themselves on" as one writer expresses it. These ideas of surrender, in order to rest the body and furnish free avenues for correct expression, which Francois Delsarte gave to us in his practical teachings, are like a new gospel, and busy men and women surely and sorely stand in need of their redeeming power. —Country Gentleman.

Renaissance in Pockets.

"The proof of the pudding is in the eating, not in the pudding-bag string." A woman who has sympathetically watched the progress of the "woman's rights" movement declares that the hope which is supposed to spring eternal in the breast of womankind, as well as of mankind, has received its death blow so far as she is concerned. It looked for a while as if women were growing more, not less, independent.

Alas!

They have learned to tie their own purse-strings; but they have taken all of a sudden to turning their purses over bodily to masculine guardianship. Pockets are at the bottom of it. That is to say, purses for safe-keeping must be at the bottom of pockets.

Women have none. Men have. And there you are—there the pocket-books are, at least. And there, says the young man of the period who does escort duty—meaning in his pocket, or, rather, pockets—are Belinda's keys and her veil; her gloves, if she has occasion to take them off; her handkerchief, if it is a blow and not a show one; very likely her card case, ad infinitum, and to the point of spoiling the set of his coat.

His tailor's bills for pressing threaten to eat up the profits of the ice cream purveyors, but still Belinda does not heed.

What's to be done? The summer schools have their campaigns mapped out, else this problem, which is truly as dark as a pocket, might be referred to one of these tribunals. It's a deep question, and Belinda's pockets, if she has any of any sort, are shallow. Is invention in the matter of pockets on a perpetual vacation? At present Belinda must make a burden bearer of her adorer or even mild admirer, or else carry her wallet as she carries her watch, exposed to view to tempt snatch thieves and risk eternal separation.

Bell skirts are in. But pockets, no, aren't compatible with clinging petticoats. And so——

Stay.

What is the objection to the quaint little pouch pockets swinging from the girdle which went with our grandmothers' frocks? Their double gathering strings made them practically safe, and they are decorative addenda of pretty frocks. Let's have a renaissance of these chatelaine pockets, and see if woman's tottering independence cannot be restored to its vantage ground.—Boston Post.

An Ebonizing Preparation.

The best ebonizing preparation that can be used or that which most nearly resembles the real ebony is lampblack, secured from the smoke of kerosene. To secure this black all you have to do is to turn up the wick of a kerosene lamp sufficiently high so as to produce a dense smoke. By this means in a few moments the chimney of the lamp will be coated with a very fine oily soot. Let it accumulate until it hangs thickly on the glass; then extinguish the blaze and suffer the glass to cool. The soot can then be scraped on to a flannel cloth; the operation repeated a number of times and you will have enough soot for your purpose. Apply the soot with a flannel cloth and repeat the operation, rubbing the soot in thoroughly until your wood is of a fine smooth black, the most perfect imitation of ebony that can be effected. It must not be varnished. Should you hesitate about undertaking to ebonize your cabinet in this manner, because of blacking your hands more than you should like, you can procure in any store in which artist's materials are sold an ebonizing preparation which is applied with a brush. But in the use of any preparation it must be very well rubbed in with a piece of flannel and the furniture thus treated should not be varnished. Ebony has a dull lustre and in all imitations of the beautiful wood a glistening surface must be avoided.

MADCAP MAUDE.

The Youngest Daughter of the Prince of Wales.

The little Princess Maude has all of her father's liking for a good time. She delights in running and riding and rowing a boat, all of which she can do very well. As yet her attention to books is the result of the desire on her part to be obedient to her mother's wishes. She is a healthy, rosy-cheeked, brown-eyed child, and is very fond of the companionship of her father. Someone remarked to the prince on one occasion that he was often seen with this daughter, to which he replied: "Oh, yes, Maude and I are great chums."

The young Princess Victoria, who is the eldest daughter of the Princess of Wales, is very much like her mother, both in appearance and manner. She shows her Scandinavian ancestry in the rather remarkable combination of black hair and blue eyes. She is a very pretty girl and a very close student, having all of her mother's love for books. The Queen is said to be fonder of the Princess Victoria than of any of her other grandchildren.

How to Hang Pictures.

Unless a picture is genuinely good do not keep it on your walls at all, but give it or store it away, unless, indeed, there is some association connected with it that makes it valuable in your eyes, when it would be best to keep it where only you could gaze upon it. Do not think it necessary to have a painful regularity that may be precision itself, but far from artistic. Nearly all pictures are hung sloping outward from bottom to top, as very few look well when placed squarely against the wall. Do not mix up etchings, oil paintings and photogravures in one room. Paintings certainly do not look well when placed beside the cold and formal etching, yet etchings and engravings can be used together in effective harmony.

Pictures containing small figures should not be hung so far above the range of vision that one can not discern the objects meant to be represented. The shadows in a picture should turn from the windows of the room in which it is hung. Companion pieces are no longer considered good form, yet if you own those containing figures, if they are hung side by side, be sure that the forms represented on the canvas face each other.

Break the set lines of the walls and the shape of the room by commingling panel, round and square frame, taking care, however, that in your efforts to produce artistic effects you do not achieve a hodgepodge quite the reverse. —Philadelphia Times.

Gentle Pundita Ramabai.

The gentle Pundita Ramabai, the Indian woman who has so many friends in this country, is doing a great deal of good in the school for young widows which she conducts in Bombay. Most of her pupils are Brahmins, although a few belong to the Varysa caste. All of them will teach as soon as Pundita decides that they are prepared to do so. Pundita herself, who has adopted the Christian faith, is in one sense an outcast in her native country. Yet we are told that many of the Indians are proud of her, and in some places it has even been whispered that perhaps she is an Avatar, the incarnation of the Deity, come to lead the people back to pure faith and to national glory.

A Theosophical Head.

One of the most interesting women in Europe is Lady Caithness, Duchesse de Pomar, who is one of the many "heads" of the Theosophical movement. The Duchesse is still a beautiful woman, eccentric enough to be interesting, and with a full consciousness of her own powers. She has superb establishments at Paris and Nice, and entertains her friends with splendid hospitality. She is at present publishing a series of papers entitled "Revelations from Above Received in Queen Mary's Sanctuary in Paris." This sanctuary, by the way, is situated in the Duchesse's own mansion, and one of the lady's harmless delusions is that the soul of Queen Mary has taken up its abode in her body.

The Coming Prima Donna.

The popular singer of the future, it is said, will be Miss Marguerite Churchhill, a Mexican prima donna who is making a name for herself at home and abroad. Miss Churchill is the daughter of a Spanish officer and an Indian squaw. The latter, of course, claimed to be a descendant of the tribe of Pocahontas. At the death of her parents the young girl was adopted by an American family in San Francisco. The head of the family was a musician, who soon discovered the possibilities of Miss Churchill's voice and proceeded to develop them. The young lady is now singing abroad, and begins a long engagement in Vienna this fall.

THE LEGAL PROFESSION.

Some of the Views of a Distinguished Member of the New York Bar.

Valuable Information for Young Men Who Are Anxious to Become Lawyers.

It is safe to say that two-thirds of the young men who go to college, and one-third of those who do not, purpose to become lawyers, and although it is a profession that is at all times crowded, each year sees countless hundreds of young men in all parts of the country taking the oath of attorney.

There is room now and there always will be for men at the top of the profession, but how many of the hundreds who enter the profession ever attain this standard?

Hundreds of boys decide to study law, not knowing whether they have the qualifications necessary to become good legal men. Their idea of the profession is that a little study at a law school or in a law office is all that is required, and that after being admitted all will be plain sailing. How deluded these poor young men are! They are the ones who eke out a pitiful existence and belong to the class commonly known as the "poor and struggling attorney."

Then there is another class. It is composed of rich men's sons. They study law because it is a gentlemanly calling and will enable them to care for their interests. This is well enough, but a large majority of these men are brainless youths, who prefer to seek after the charms of society and all the other so-called pleasures of life rather than devote themselves to good, honest toil. These lawyers are often considered successful young men by the world at large. They have their own offices, are not forced to work as clerks, and go to their quarters just often enough to make an appearance of doing something.

The man who succeeds at the bar is in most cases like the successful man in other professions and in business. He begins his career in poverty, works unceasingly as office boy, clerk and assistant lawyer until his efforts begin to tell, and in time he appears before the public, a new star in the legal world. But, in nine cases out of ten, he does not gain this position until well along in life.

DOES THE LAW PAY?

The question arises, Does it pay to become a lawyer? From a financial standpoint most persons would answer no, and the answer is, generally speaking, correct. The few leading men of the bar in this city are comparatively rich, but it is seldom that wealth comes from a law practice alone, and it is only the lucky few who are attorneys to large corporations with large salaries that think it pays to become a lawyer. Even these lawyers rank in wealth far below bankers, brokers and merchants.

Frederic R. Coudert, one of the eminent men of the New York bar, talked on the subject a few days ago and his remarks should be carefully read by all students and young attorneys. They were in substance as follows:

"If one-third of the young men who study law would leave it alone and enter into some other kind of work, the bar to-day would number as members fewer struggling attorneys and the men who were qualified to become lawyers would meet with more success and would be known soon after being admitted.

"I would say to all young men contemplating the study of law: 'Do not do it unless you have a longing after legal matters and feel that it is your calling.' Young men should not go into this profession thinking they will gain great wealth, for it is but few who grow rich out of a law practice, and where it pays one it will almost make beggars of ten.

"Then to the young man who has firmly decided to enter the profession I would say: 'Obscurity and despondency will be your companions until the client, bringing sunshine into your desolate office, has given you animation and life, and then together you may rule the world.'

"Perhaps the practice of charging small sums for trifling services has as much as anything else brought the lawyer into disrepute. The temptation to make motions and to take various dilatory proceedings for the sake of making costs has been a constant source of petti fogging and of subsequent discredit.

THE ETHICS OF THE LAW.

"There is much talk about the duties of the attorney. Many maxims are laid down by ethical teachers, but the trouble is that the maxims are so high and require so much self-denial that few will undertake to follow them. In law, as in everything else, there are hights that men will sometimes reach. The standard with us is high; it must be high—higher, I think, than in any other pursuit.

"But even attorneys are human. They desire to live out of their labor. They will, as a rule, prefer wealthy clients to poor ones, and will not consider themselves criminal because they do not always attach a sacerdotal character to their profession.

"Young attorneys should remember that it is a great mistake to believe that there is the slightest impropriety in defending a man known by counsel to be guilty. It is to the interests of the people that no man should be convicted except upon legal evidence, and in such cases it is a matter of public policy as well as of professional duty that counsel should stand between the accused and the prosecuting officer in defence of his client's right to be tried according to the law of the land. Counsel are not judges nor jurors; they are instrumentalities for the administration of justice, and justice can better suffer the occasional escape of a guilty party than to tolerate a conviction not sustained by clear legal proof.

"The attorney has the right to look to his profession for advancement, but it is a profession and not a trade. The rules of commerce will not apply. He does not deal on equal terms with his client. He may not drive hard bargains and take advantage of the client's necessities. He should be a gentleman, which implies the doing of his duty and the preservation of his dignity."

Mr. Coudert ended his talk by quoting Chancellor D'Agnesseau, who said: "Our order is as ancient as magistracy, as noble as virtue, as necessary as justice."

Chauncey M. Depew was once asked by a young man concerning the law. After giving him some sound advice he warned him of the troubles and discouragements which beset the path of the legal man, and of the bad reputation often given a lawyer simply because he is a lawyer. Mr. Depew told the young man a story which illustrates this tendency. It relates to an attorney by the name of Strange, who was on his deathbed. He called his wife and he told her that he wanted no inscription upon his tomb except these words: "Here lies an honest lawyer."

"Why is that?" asked the wife.

"Well," her husband replied, "nothing more is necessary; when people go by they will see the epitaph, and they will say: 'That's strange.'"

William E. Ewarts' advice is: "Study law to become a lawyer, and not to be a man of wealth. If you are a conscientious, painstaking young man you will make enough to live on in comfort."

If the question, "Does it pay to become a lawyer?" is put to the majority of newly-made attorneys the answer will be in the negative, for at first it is a hard road to travel, and many have dropped by the wayside. The profession requires unceasing work and a nature ready to meet hopefully every possible kind of discouragement.—New York Commercial-Advertiser.

To My Pipe.

O pipe! My pipe!
Thou listenedst in my pocket long ago
The night I told that woman, soft and low,
The reason why and whence I loved her so;
And all the which and wherefore of her sweet reply—
The while the moon-man winked a doubtful eye
And fierce marauding beetles thunder'd by—
Was known to thee;
Yet thou could'st speak no sympathy.
But when that cockney, Montague, appeared
And drawled about his cattle in the west,
His sawmills in the north, and all the rest,
Thereby inflaming my chest—
Then wert thou indeed
A friend in need;
And thou didst yearn
And burn
To bring me consolation
In that my desolation,
O pipe! My pipe!

O pipe! My pipe!
Well dost thou remember
The morn and midnight riot in my brain,
Wherein I wrought, in ecstacy and pain,
The thousand pages of that novel;
This, too, was known to thee
Yet thou could'st speak no sympathy;
But when the critics,
The mental paralytics
Sneered at it,
Jeered at it,
Spat upon it,
Sat upon it
With much too much unnecessary violence,
Again wert thou indeed
A friend in need,
And thou didst bubble at the bottom of thy bowl
In eagerness to tranquilize my soul,
O pipe! My pipe!

O pipe! My pipe!
My sweethearts have deceived me and are wed,
My friends have sized me up and all are fled,
My purse is empty and my credit dead,
Likewise my head.
But thou, best friend of all, art with me still,
And we will go together down the hill
Where blood-stained gods are grinding in their mill;
But they must crush our bones
Between the stones
Together,
Whether
They like it or not—
A few more whiffs,
A few more sniffs
Of thy most sweet and aromatic breath,
And I will gladly go with thee to death,
O pipe! My pipe!

—Don Quixote.

Minority Representation.

Various methods have been proposed for the attainment of minority representations. The best known is that by Thomas Hare, which, by the way, was simultaneously devised by the Dane, Andree, and ought to be called the Hare-Andrew system. Another one is that explained by the Belgian d'Hondt in his pamphlet, "Expose du systeme pratique de representation proportionelle, adopted par le comite de l'association reformiste Belge." The main idea of this system is, that every election district shall be represented by more than one member in the Legislature, giving each party a voice or voices, according to its prominence. The method of election is as follows: Each party presents its list of candidates and agitates their election. The new method appears in the counting of votes and this is a double way. First all votes are added together; for instance, Party A's list gets 3,000, B's, 2,000, C's 1,000, D's 1,000. The number of seats the district can dispose of is then distributed to the candidates in proportion to the number of their votes. The other part of the proceedings consists in taking from each list those candidates who have got the most votes among their rivals. These are again voted for; the voter can thus directly influence the choice of the candidate. Let us take as an example an election district having seven representatives and four parties. The voters put first on the lists the names of candidates who unite personal influence with leadership in their party. Next they place less known persons and lastly they put the names of such persons as, perhaps, are heard of for the first time at the election in question. In all, they enumerate twenty-eight names. If three candidates on the lists get respectively 2,900, 2,800 and 2,100 votes it is clear that the first two stand higher with the party than the last, the third. Many efforts have been made to insure full and correct representation. The following is one way of doing it: Party A is, according to its size, entitled to three seats, but puts up seven candidates—the whole number the district is entitled to. The other parties do the same, in other words, each voter considers himself having a right to seven voices, and these seven he gives to those candidates he prefers above others, or he can give them all to one. In that way all seven voices are counted in for the party.—Literary Digest.

Aphorisms.

The misfortunes hardest to bear are those that never come.—Lowell.

Childhood may do without a great purpose, but manhood cannot.—J. G. Holland.

Proper respect for some persons is best preserved by avoiding their neighborhood.—George William Curtis.

A reputation for good judgment, for fair dealing, for truth, and for rectitude, is itself a fortune.—Henry Ward Beecher.

Beware of him that is slow to anger; anger, when it is long in coming, is the stronger when it comes, and the longer kept.—Quarles.

Repentance must be something more than a mere remorse for sins; it comprehends a change of nature befitting Heaven.—Lew Wallace.

When you have anything to communicate that will distress the heart of the person whom it concerns, be silent, in order that he may hear from someone else.—Saadi.

Conceal not the meanness of thy family, nor think it disgraceful to be descended from peasants; for when it is seen that thou art not thyself ashamed, none will endeavor to make thee so.—Cervantes.

Victorians Prospecting Near Kamloops---Better Postal Service Promised.

[From the Inland Sentinel.]

A concert given last week at Vernon by the ladies of the Presbyterian church in Cameron's hall, netted the handsome sum of $160.

Mr. H. S. Pitteadrigh and bride of Osooyos, who have been making an extended wedding trip, will now settle down to home life at Hayne's Ranch, of which Mr. P. is manager.

A company of Victoria people, composed of J. McB. Smith, Curry Booth, Mr. Johns and Mr. Doherty recently applied for a prospecting license at the junction of the Fraser and Thompson rivers at Lytton on the east side of the Fraser. They have begun to sink on their claim and are down about forty feet.

Mr. Mara has received advices from P.O. Inspector Fletcher that the post-office department has authorized increased mail service in the Okanagan country. There will be a tri-weekly mail from Vernon to Osooyos, and fortnightly from Osooyos to Kettle River, Boundary and Rock Creeks. And there will be a fortnightly mail from Penticton to Keremeos.

The Vancouver Hydraulic Company, which is operating at Van Winkle bar on the Fraser near Lytton, it is not believed will get a sluicing this fall. They find the labor of getting their piping in place, and other necessary matters in readiness so great that they are likely to be delayed till next year before commencing the real work of taking out their gold.

The following is the supplementary prize list of Kamloops fair: For general purpose horses, James Mellors received the first prize for the best yearling colt; Walter Campbell for the best walking horse; J. R. Hull for the best saddle horse; Charles Pennie for the best three-year-old draught filly; and R. J. Nesbitt of Ashcroft the second prize for the best general purpose stallion.

Mr. Wentworth F. Wood returned on Monday night from his trip to the Mosquito Flat mines, referred to last week. Owing to the wet weather the roads were very bad, which made the trip longer than was expected. One thousand pounds of ore were brought down in a canoe, a large part of which will be forwarded to Tacoma in order that a good average test of its value may be secured. The plans in regard to shipping the larger quantity are changed, because the season is late and so much preparation would be required to mine in cold weather. A meeting of the mine owners will be held early in November to decide as to future operations. Four men are working on the mine completing the assessment work and developing.

A North River rancher puts the case as follows in regard to beef cattle and the profits of the business: A three year old steer on the basis of an average of 1,200 pounds, will cost..$35 00
Freight to the coast..... 7 00

Say that the steer dresses 700 pounds, which allows for shrinkage in transportation, and all other losses, the matter stands:
100 pounds at 16 cents.....$16 00
600 " 10 " 60 00
$76 00
Less cost laid down..... 42 00
Clear Profit.....$34 00

This is a good profit and one which the ranchers think they ought to have a fairer division.

Judge Tunstall is moving under the recent sanitary regulations to have the streets and alleys of Kamloops put in order for the advent of cholera or any other epidemic which can be warded off by cleanliness and pure food. Officer J. C. McLaren has already given warning to the people to clean up and remove all nuisances from their premises. Should any epidemic sickness prevail, the cleanly condition of the town will go far to mitigate if it does not entirely prevent the spread of disease.

A very interesting discussion took place last evening among a number of the most prominent business men in town over the advisability of having Kamloops incorporated, and we are creditably informed that one gentleman, a large property owner, who has in the past been very much opposed to incorporation has come out flat-footed in favor of it, stating that he would be the first to sign a petition asking incorporation, and thought a meeting should be called for next Thursday evening to make such arrangements as are necessary to the end in view.

Complaint is made that the trail on Salmon River between R. E. Woods' and O. S. Batchelar's, a distance of 12 miles, is in bad condition. There are eight settlers, four of them new ones, towards Salmon Lake from Batchelor's place and there is no way out except by way of Douglas Lake and the Nicola road to Kamloops, about 75 miles. Three weeks ago three new settlers took up places west of Mr. Wood's place, whilst others were looking around for locations. Should the 12 miles of poor trail be made into a passable wagon road, the settlers of that section would not be obliged to travel more than one-half the distance by way of Grand Prairie and Ducks to reach Kamloops, that they now are obliged to do by way of Douglas Lake and the Nicola road.

Mr. Wm. Pearse, member of the Dominion Land Board and Superintendent of Mines, with headquarters at Calgary, has been several days at Kamloops and vicinity, on matters concerning Dominion lands within the railway belt. The province has sold lands within the twenty mile belt, which are claimed by the Dominion Government, and settlers who have made these purchases are in trouble as to their rights. The Dominion gives notice that no titles to land within the twenty mile belt given by the Provincial Government will be respected, and warns intending settlers accordingly. Mr. Pearse and Mr. Nash, of the Kamloops Dominion land office, have spent three days this week at Enderby, where a large number of settlers are located on lands claimed by both the Province and the Dominion.

Mr. A. Stevenson, road master for Yale district is just about rounding up his work for the season. His district is a large one, reaching east and west from Yale to Salmon Arm, and north and south from Lillooet to the boundary. He has between 600 and 700 miles of roads and trails to keep in order, besides constructing (this year) between 40 and 50 miles of new road. The most important job this season was the Nicola and Granite Creek road, on which $4000 has been expended. The sum of $500 was laid out on the Siwash Creek trail near Yale. A bridge across Deadman's Creek, of 54 feet span, has been built. A job of road work at Ducks, and a road from Barne's to Lehman's at Ashcroft, have been done. A large item of expense and labor was in renewing the old bridges on the road from Kamloops to Nicola. From $8000 to $9000 has been expended this season, and the roads and bridges of the district are now in good condition.

[From the Kootenay Star.]

On Tuesday morning Revelstokians awoke to find "the beautiful" had arrived. It was only about an inch in depth, however, and completely vanished before the day was over. The weather is quite mild.

Large numbers of emigrants from the United States are passing through Revelstoke bound for the Canadian Northwest. They come in by way of Bonner's Ferry and Little Dalles and up the Columbia River. They are mostly large families, robust, but a trifle wild and unkempt.

Frank Saunders, the young man who broke into Messrs. Hull Bros.' butcher shop and stole $138 from the cashbox three weeks ago, was tried at the Revelstoke courthouse on Saturday by Judge Walkem. The prisoner pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to two years in the provincial penitentiary at New Westminster.

Mr. A. Holman, the real estate agent of Nakusp, in a recent interview with the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works, says Mr. Vernon promises that the first appropriation made by the Provincial Parliament will be one for a first-class wagon road from Nakusp to the mines.

Messrs. L. Mason and G. Laforme arrived down from Big Bend this week, bringing most gratifying news concerning the placer mines there, as well as a quantity of coarse gold and nuggets to back up their statements. Mr. Mason says four men at the Consolation mine took out $250 worth in two shifts. At another claim every shovelful of dirt panned out $45. Owing to an unfortunate circumstance full particulars are kept over till next week. Mr. Laforme is packing in the winter supplies, and will make three trips. He left with his pack train on the first of these yesterday.

At a public meeting held last week in Bourne's hall to discuss the land question Mr. R. Tapping was voted to the chair. He pointed out the great disadvantages under which they labored by not being permitted to buy any land at the station. No one cared to improve property unless he could see a prospect of becoming the owner of it some day. According to statistics, if the people there could buy the land they lived on they would be $200,000 better off at the end of twenty years. He read a resolution addressed to the C.P.R. land commissioner, praying that the land be put on the market for private purchase. After a few remarks from Mr. H. J. Bourne, who said they all wanted to be owners and not tenants of the land they lived on, the resolution was carried unanimously.

J. C. Wagner has discovered in the Lardeau a galena ledge not far from the main contact where he and his partners made their first location. The ledge is from eight to ten feet wide and well mineralized. In several places where it was cut into from three to four feet of solid galena was found. The ledge is a true fissure, cutting the formation near the head waters of Haley Creek, on the divide between that creek and Duncan river. Portions of the ledge carry grey copper and black antimonial silver, all being of high grade ore. The return of samples sent for assay will be reported later. Mr. Wagner and partner, J. A. Kennedy, made five locations—the Merry Day, Lucy Jane, Princess, Night Hawk and Blue Jay. The three claims located on the main contact by himself and partners two or three months ago assayed:—

Claim.	Silver.	Gold.	Lead.
No. 1.....	104 oz	trace	78.80 p. c.
No. 2.....	110 oz	$4.00	79 60 "
No. 3.....	115 oz	$3.75	78.62 "

Mr. Wagner considers the Lardeau the greatest mining country on this continent. He has examined the ten locations made by J. W. Haskins, and considers them the greatest seen in any mining camp in America—and he has been in most of them. Mr. Wagner has received letters from two companies desiring him to prospect for them next summer. His own company has appointed him manager, and he intends to make things hum next season. In case a wagon road is constructed into the Lardeau (and a movement to that end is now on foot) he will commence shipping ore as soon as it is open, having about 3600 tons ready for removal. He will be enabled to keep a large pack train on the go all the time, as his claims are favorably situated.

NEWS OF THE MINING CAMPS.

The Miners Coming Down from the Frozen North to Winter in Victoria.

Men Who Have Spent Winters Near the Arctic Circle—News from the Yukon.

The steamer Mexico arrived at Nanaimo yesterday from Alaska. She brought down a number of miners, some of whom came to Victoria last evening

One of the arrivals was H. J. McDonald, who has been mining on Davies creek, at the head waters of the Yukon for three years. Davies creek is not as good as at first supposed.

"There are many good spots on the creek," said Mr. McDonald, "but they are far between. The creek is 1700 miles from the mouth of the Yukon. and the cost of provisions and the long trip make mining a difficult task. Flour and beans cost $15 a hundred pounds, fruit and sugar cost $30 a hundred, and a pair of gum boots sells for $12. It is expected, however, that goods will be cheaper this year as the Alaska Company, who now have a monopoly, are to have opposition next season, a Mr. Healey having purchased a steamer to take miners' goods up."

Two new creeks have been discovered this season at the headwaters of the Yukon. One is a tributary of Forty Mile Creek and the other a tributary of Sixty Mile Creek. Neither of them is considered very good, although one pays two ounces to the man. The other is very small and dry, so that little mining can be done on it. "To make anything in the Yukon country," said Mr. McDonald, "a man must make $8 a day." About a dozen men have come out of the country this fall. All of them with a little money, but only two with what might be called a 'big sack.' About 170 men will winter in the interior. The best pay made this season was on Franklin Gulch, where a $211 nugget was taken out this season. Two miners who spent the last three years there came out with $2000 each."

"The worst of the country," continued Mr. McDonald, "is the trouble getting to and from the mines. The distance from the mouth of the Yukon is 1700 miles, but by going through Cassiar the distance is shortened by nearly a thousand miles.

Mr. McDonald came out by way of Juneau, making the trip from the mines to salt water in 31 days. The miners come down in boats, which have to be poled the whole way. The miners generally go up on the ice. A trail is very badly needed, to make access to the mines easier. At present, if a miner wants to make anything he has to stay in the interior winter and summer for two or three years. The country is a poor place for poor man, as provisions are dear, and to get enough to last a couple of years a man has to have some capital to start with. There is no difficulty in having claims recorded, as there is a recorder on each creek. The claims are 500 feet long, but the creeks are very narrow.

"Nothing has been found in the country as yet," said Mr. McDonald, "but there is a bright future before it. When provisions are cheaper and a trail has been built, more miners will get into the country and unfold some of its riches." Mr. McDonald returns north in February. He will take some pack horses with him to try and lessen the cost of provisions.

EIGHTY BELOW ZERO.

P. G. McDonald, who also came south on the Mexico, has spent six years on Forty-Mile Creek, at the head waters of the Yukon. He remained there summer and winter.

"The miners," he said, "can only work three months out of the year, and this, added to the cost of provisions, takes off the profits."

Last winter was the coldest he experienced during the six years. For days at a time the cold was intense, the weather being as near as he could make out, 80 degrees below zero. Warm cabins are built, however, and the miners stay in them. Forty-Mile Creek is worked out now, so Mr. McDonald, when he returns north, will try his luck somewhere else.

FROM CASSIAR.

Mr. H. Miller, one of the oldest miners who has continued to search for gold among the mountains and creeks, has just returned from Cassiar. He has a mine in almost every camp on the coast, and has spent five winters in the interior of Alaska. Of Cassiar, his latest camping ground, he has not much to say. The place, he says, is dead, and the few miners still there are doing very poorly. Mr. McCrimmon has a good claim on Dease creek, but so far nothing much has been taken out of it. Two Chinamen are doing well on McDame's creek, but outside of them there is nothing doing. The same was the case a Telegraph creek, the old mining camp. On Quartz creek, Mitchell has run at 1700-foot tunnel and is still at work, but has not struck any paying dirt.

"There are but 25 white men in Cassiar," said Mr. Miller, "and they would not be there if they had the money to come out. They are just hanging on hoping for something better to turn up. The American Company of which Dr. Hasock is the manager, has already spent $20,000 on the Stickeen without any return. The doctor, who was seen at Wrangel, told Mr. Miller that he intended to return to the mines again in the spring.

Houster, the American miner who has been in Cassiar since 1874, died a few weeks ago while on his way to Wrangel. He broke a blood vessel shortly after leaving the Forks and died almost immediately. He was buried at Wrangel. Houster spent last winter in the Jubilee Hospital. He was well known by all the old Cassiar men.

Several other Yukon miners came down. They all say the country is rich, but it has been greatly over estimated by some of the miners who went to San Francisco last year.

Critics have unanimously decided that Miss Howieson's interpretation of the works of Robert Burns is that of a student of no ordinary depth of thought and keen perception. It is the best that has ever been given to the public. *
